Description

I have a great desire to transfer into a technology-focused career and am a very motivated person. While I have a background in education that includes my current LLB studies at the University of South Africa, I have always had a strong interest in technology and have taken initiative to gain the necessary knowledge and abilities. I believe my legal education has given me excellent research and analytical skills that I can apply to the tech sector. I am adept at delving into intricate problems, analyzing data, and coming to wise decisions—all skills that are crucial in the IT industry.
